

Delegation Name: China

Ambassador Name: Ceyda Kuzucu

Dear delegates, Secretariat, Student Officers, Advisors and the Executive Team, I would first like to start by saying that I am very delighted and honored to be able to undertake the role of the ambassador of China in the 30th annual session of the Turkish International Model United Nations Conference . It can be said on behalf of all the delegates that will be representing China in the committees that we are very excited and eager to be here and to be able to contribute and add our effort in the debates that are going to take place.

As humanity, we have come a long way by relying only on our brain, body and will. We now rely on a new tool to challenge our environment, humanity, success and development. We are now in a superior age. We create technologies that the human mind struggles to comprehend.

And for the first time in our entire history, while we have adapted the whole world to ourselves, this time we need to adapt to it. That's why this year's theme is extremely important and essential for our future; The Uncertain Future of Traditional Industries: Labor in the Digital Economy. We will discuss two important facts that make up our world: digital life and labor. We, as China, recognize our political power over the world and assure that we will strive to the end for all member states and citizens for the necessary changes, innovations and developments in line with the power we have.

We wish success to everyone in the GA committees, ECOSOC, Special committees and ICJ, and hope for fair and fruitful debates where unity and solidarity are achieved. We are very enthusiastic to see what this conference has in store for us all.
