

Delegation Name: United Kingdom

Ambassador Name: Güçlü Ağaç

Dear delegates, Student Officers, Advisors, and the Executive Committee,

To begin with, it is a great honor to have the role of the ambassador for the delegation of the United Kingdom at this esteemed conference.

In this year's theme "The Uncertain Future of Traditional Industries: Labor in the Digital Economy" it's clear that we're facing a period of advancements and changes that are casting doubt over the future of labor and traditional industries.

In our view, it's crucial to ensure that everyone in the workforce can smoothly adapt to advancements in a sustainable manner so that no community or worker gets overlooked in the process. Facing challenges posed by automation and AI requires us to give priority to their application, especially within the defense and judicial sectors where the impact is the most significant. Simultaneously enhancing the availability of resources and infrastructure plays a role in empowering disadvantaged groups and promoting sustainability in economically struggling areas.

The United Kingdom is also aware of the increasing dangers to security and understands the importance of using new technologies responsibly and avoiding their misuse in conflicts while enhancing global disarmament agreements that are crucial for stability and cooperation efforts. Furthermore tackling disparities and aiding developing economies in the Global South will play a key role, in creating stability and encouraging collaboration.

Throughout this conference, the UK will be committed to working alongside all nations to develop practical and forward-thinking solutions. Together, we can shape a future where technological advancements will uplift humanity and no one will be left behind.
